There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Former Resident Married.

Fred M. Campbell of Springfield, Mass., and Miss Maud E. Bailey of Hyde Park, were married Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, in the Congregational church at Hyde Park, the ceremony being performed by Rev. F. C. Taylor, pastor of the church. As the wedding party entered, Miss Elsie B. Campbell, sister of the groom, played the Lohengrin wedding march. The party was preceded by the maid of honor, Miss Nellie Packard of Winooski, followed by the bride, leaning on the arm of her father, Henry A. Bailey of Winooski. They were followed by the bridesmaids, Miss Ellen A. Fitch, sister of the bride, Miss Blanche M. Foss and Miss Ethel Gould of Morrisville, and Miss Bertha McDonough of Burlington. The ushers, Russell S. Page, Lucius H. Noyes, and A. Newton Camp of Hyde Park, and Ralph L. Barrows of Morrisville, entered from an opposite aisle, and the groom and best man, Martin E. Daniels of Lyndon Center, entered from a side door, meeting the wedding party at the altar, where a circle was formed around the bride and groom. The Episcopal ceremony was performed, the bride being given away by her father. She was gowned in white French muslin over white trimmed with lace and ribbon, and carried a bouquet of bride roses. The maid of honor wore pink crepe de chene, trimmed with ecru lace and ribbon, carrying pink carnations, and the bridesmaids wore pink and white muslin and carried pink and white carnations. The church was decorated simply with a bank of palms and ferns behind the altar and ropes of evergreen were strung in conspicuous places. Following the ceremony, the Mendelssohn march was played and the party withdrew to the parlors of the church, where congratulations were received, the bride and groom being assisted in receiving by their parents, and the best man and maid of honor. A reception was given to the ushers, bridesmaids and immediate relatives of the bride and groom, in the parlors of the church. Bradstreet's Vermont Weekly Trade Report.

No disturbing features are noted this week in business conditions in Vermont. The larger industries are very active and nearly all of the trade centers report business on a satisfactory basis. The favorable weather for outside work has been fully improved but the clothing trade and kindred lines affected by radical changes are waiting for colder weather. Collections in some sections are reported somewhat slow. There is still a demand for both skilled and unskilled labor, granite and other manufacturers are curtailed in their production because of insufficient help. This condition is the result of general employment rather than a decrease in the number of laborers, although it is reported that some cutters left Barre earlier in the season in consequence of inducements held out to them for employment elsewhere. Burlington reports business in general to be satisfactory; jobbers are busy and the retail trade is of about usual proportions with manufacturing lines well employed and collections fair. Barre manufacturing interests are exceptionally well employed and retail trade is good though collections reported somewhat slow. St. Johnsbury reports activity along manufacturing lines with collections about as usual. General business in Brattleboro is satisfactory, manufacturers doing well, retail trade active and collections fair. Bellows Falls trade is reported good along all lines with collections very fair and but little unemployed help of those who wish to work. Conditions are good at Stowe; lumber is active, while local improvements keep labor active and help scarce. The granite manufacturing business at Northfield and Waterbury is very active; in the former enlarged facilities for quarrying on the granite business have resulted in an increased demand for cutters difficult to meet.
